

Homework after session 2

You don't have to go against the anxiety but you do have to go against the avoidance.

Annika talked about the importance of not avoiding uncomfortable situations. Anxiety is normal and expected, but the level of anxiety can only be reduced over time with repeated exposure.

Create a list of situations in your everyday life where you can continue practicing exposure in social situations.